Local Brevities.

New is the time to buy Kodaks. The place is the Owl Drug Store.

The receipts of the county clerk's office for recording deeds and mortgages during the month of May were $164.75.

Dr. Vernon has moved her residence to the Cohen flat, on Exchange between Tenth and Eleventh, where she will reside with her family in the future. Her office will be as before, in the Kerney block.

Frank Purcell, representing the Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Company, with headquarters in Portland, manufacturers of the genuine Hall's Safe & Lock Company's safes, will be in the city for a few days.

Just received—A complete line of Eastman's Kodaks and Supplies. See window display at the Owl Drug Store.

The Astoria city directory was yesterday distributed to subscribers. The book is a handsome volume and is complete in every particular.

It is now stated that the men who attempted to establish new traps in Bakers bay are Seattle people, and not South Bend residents, as was heretofore understood. It is unlikely they will make any further effort to "cork" the old-time trappers.

An interesting meeting of Astor lodge No. 6, Knights of Pythias, was held last evening. After initiation ceremonies, the lodge elected officers as follows: Chancellor commander, H. M. Lornstein; vice chancellor, Thomas B. Loughery; master of work, George Goodell; prelate, C. W. Spriggs; master-at-arms, A. G. Sieverts; inner guard, Albert Martin; outer guard, Ludwig Larsen.

Lost—Fraternal pin, on Wednesday afternoon; monogram "A. O." in Greek letters, with "A" set in diamonds on face; on back initials "G. E. S." and date, Feb. 5, 1903. Suitable reward will be paid for the return of the same to The Astorian office.

A certificate of approval of the sewer on Grand avenue from the west line of Shively's Astoria to connection with the Twelfth street drain was filed yesterday in the office of Auditor Anderson. The sewer cost $221.25, and was installed by C. E. Johnson.

The county court yesterday convened in regular session and spent the day attending to road matters and auditing claims. During the afternoon adjournment was taken until 9:30 this morning, when bids for the construction of the court house foundation will be opened.

The marriage of James E. Collins and Miss Nellie Abbott took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Abbott of Warrenton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. S. Short. Miss Lottie Abbott, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, and Mr. Harry McDermott the best man.

Senator Fulton, who had been invited to deliver the Fourth of July address at Astoria, has been compelled to decline the invitation. The senator promised to speak at Hillsboro long before the local committee went after him, and he finds it impossible to break his first engagement however much he would like to accommodate the Astoria patriots. John C. McCue is to read the declaration of independence.

Two longshoremen, whose names have not been learned, imbibed too generously of that which made Milwaukee famous, and last night at a late hour proceeded to tear each other into small bits of gore. Just what started the trouble is not known, but it ended in a whirlwind of fistcuffs and coarse screams that caused the friends of the parties interested to separate them and hurry them away before the coming of the police.

The republicans of Clatsop county will wind up their campaign in Astoria on the night of June 4—Saturday evening next. They have arranged for a big rally at Fisher's opera house, at which United States Senator Fulton will be the principal speaker. Senator Fulton had been urged to close the campaign at other out-of-town points, but agreed to the request of the local committee that he speak here. Music will be furnished by the Eagles' Military band.

J. E. Simmons, the democratic nominee for congress in the Second district, was down yesterday from Portland. Mr. Simmons went over to Seaside on the night train. Mr. Simmons is not making a very active canvass, nor is his opponent, Congressman Williamson. Mr. Williamson has not been in the state since congress adjourned and will not make one speech. The republican majority in this district is so large that a campaign on the part of the democratic nominee would be waste of energy.

Tomorrow night at 7:30 the Push Club will meet at the city hall for the purpose of hearing the report of the committee appointed to canvass sentiment with reference to the tenth annual regatta. The committee will not only present a favorable report upon the regatta proposal, but will also submit a complete list of contributors, having attended to all of the preliminary work. It will recommend that George W. McBride be appointed chairman of the committee. Mr. McBride was regarded as an excellent man for the chairmanship, and he has agreed to act. The club meeting should be largely attended, as several matters of importance are to be acted upon.

E. O. Dickinson and A. V. Allen, Jr. have opened a tailoring establishment at 430 Commercial street, and are prepared to furnish the very best of clothing to the gentlemen of Astoria. It will be the aim of Messrs. Dickinson & Allen to carry constantly in stock samples of the very latest creations in the way of fine clothing and to give satisfaction at all times.

James E. Selbright of Seattle was in Astoria yesterday looking over the ground with the intention of locating a lumber mill and docks in this vicinity. Last week it was mentioned that another representative of the firm of which Mr. Selbright is a member was in Astoria for the same purpose. On his return to Seattle he so warmly recommended Astoria as a locating point that Mr. Selbright himself took a run down to look over the situation. "We lumber men have been having a great deal of trouble in Seattle," said Mr. Selbright, "and we have made up our minds to move. We sent a representative here and he warmly recommended Astoria. I can not give out anything definite at the present time, as nothing will be done until the annual meeting of our stockholders in July, but I think the mills will come to Astoria."

The body of an unknown man was found on the tideflats near the entrance to Blind slough Tuesday and Coroner Pohl was notified. He went up yesterday morning in a launch and took charge of the body. He found it in a badly decomposed condition and it had evidently been in the water a month or more and the face was so swollen as to be hardly recognizable. The pockets of the clothing had been turned inside out before the body was found, and the only thing discovered was a small key, to the ring of which was a brass tag engraved as follows: "Otto Nelson; Watches; No. 167." The man was about 5 feet 10 inches in height and had long black hair. He wore a plaid shirt, dark cotton pants and lace shoes. He gave the appearance of being a longshoreman or a steamboat man. Coroner Pohl ordered the body buried at Knappa.

Bids for the Franklin avenue improvement in East Astoria will be opened Tuesday at 2 p. m. and submitted to the council at the regular session that night. The improvement extends from the west line of Adair's Astoria to the east line of Thirty-sixth street. The estimated cost of the improvement exceeds $9000. This is the street undertaking over which there has been so much dissension in the council. The Third ward delegation forced through the bill after much contention, but the assessed valuation of the property in the district was increased enough so as to make it bear the cost of the work. Councilman Lebeck is still of the opinion the improvement is inadvisable, and says the city will find, after the improvement is made and it comes to collecting the assessments, that it will have a rare variety of wildcat property on its hands.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Columbia River Fishermen's Protective Union, next Saturday night, it is probable official notice will be taken of the annual arrival here of fishermen from the Sacramento river. The union will be unable to do anything decisive, but may see fit to express its opinion on the action of the authorities in granting licenses to the men. The whole proposition is indeed a difficult one. The laws of the states of Oregon and Washington provide that only residents of those states shall be granted licenses to fish in the waters of the Columbia river, and many contend it would be just as reasonable for the states to require bona fide residence involving possible idleness of six months or a year, in order for a man to engage in business. The law is calculated to protect resident fishermen from the encroachment of outsiders but failure of the officials of the two states to work harmoniously renders it inoperative.
